Dearest June:

Well, we finally got back to Avon Park. We arrived yesterday afternoon and slept till 8:00 this morning. It took us 4 hrs. after we left Lake Charles. We had a delayed take off there and I sure hope that you didn't wait too long on the road for us to come over. I wanted so much to tell you that it would be awhile but I had no way to reach you at all.

Hope your Boss wasn't sore because you left him short handed. If he knew how much better I feel now that I've seen you again he wouldn't mind I'm sure.

Well, we have been put on an official alert now and soon we will leave to we don't know where. We will be rushing around the next few days buying things we need and trying to get stuff we don't need shipped home.

The crew is pleased very much so, with you and the folks. Not as much as I am though. McKenna still wants to know if you wear your wings in the shower, I told him you did of course. He is just jealous because his girl doesn't wear his all the time, that's all.

You didn't look so happy while you were there, sorry. You looked like you might not have been feeling so well. I guess that was a pretty long trip wasn't it?

I've got to go see the Capt. now move later.

Love
