March 21,

Sweetheart:

Your package of cookies and card arrived on time and I thank you so very much. Of course I can think of a much nicer birthday present, namely you - - -

I started to school Monday and I've been so busy and I do mean it. We work from 0800 to 1800 every day but Saturday and Sunday. The fact is until your and mom's packages arrived today I had forgotten about today being my birthday. Until then it was the day my instructor was going to show me how to recover from a spin.

I always thought that when I actually arrived at Primary school I would be so relieved and nothing could bother me, but it is like every thing else and I will be working and sweating from now on. I never had such periods of elation and depression. If I fly it ~~works~~ right I feel swell and if I mess it up I feel terrible until I'm up again. I can't even write tonight.

So if the time between letters is long please don't be angry because I'm not thinking of you all the time and just because I don't write — — — well anyway just be patient. I think things will be smooth running in about three weeks and my letter writing will pick up.

This business of going back to school isn't easy. I've been rocking along so long now without studying that I'm having trouble picking it up again.

Please tell mom that all her packages arrived o.k. and thank her. You'll have to wish Bess a Happy Birthday also — I even forgot that.

Love you,

Bill
