Saturday:

Darling:

What a deal this has turned into.

We reported on the twentieth as we were supposed to do and found much to our surprise and their (Zy's) also that we didn't even belong here at all. We were supposed to go directly to our duty station which, in my case is Camp Shelby.

We've been staying in the hotel waiting for our orders and since these guys don't work on the week-ends we won't get away until Monday.

Didn't have much of a Thanksgiving and so far I haven't enjoyed myself to much. Had some snow right after midnight on Thanksgiving and it snowed almost all day yesterday: temperatures from about 10-20 degrees. I've caught a pretty bad cold and have been coughing my head off outside of that I'm fine.

I sure have missed you kiddo and I want you with me again just as soon as we can manage it. I talked to the Major about my job and living conditions at Shelby and he said that he believed I would be able to find a place easy enough. My work will be an almost 5 day week job at the separation center. There is a Major in charge down there.

I've left the ole Dodge in the garage ever since we arrived really had no use for it.

We are going to move out to the field for tonight & tomorrow to save money and get a little more sleep.

Love you
Billy
